

Sample the adventure at Camp Summit

Squamish is the Outdoor Recreation Capital of Canada. That's fine and dandy, but unless you're already hooked up in your passion of choice, the recreation options in Squamish can be intimidating to say the least.

This is especially true for kids and young adults who are eager to sample the adventure but don't know where to start. Then there are the parents who want to expose their children to all Squamish has to offer, but are overwhelmed by the choices.

If only it was as simple as dropping the kids off at a trail head with a kiss on the cheek.

Funny enough, it almost is that simple; you just have to know where to look.

Beautifully situated across from the main eagle viewing area in Brackendale is a fantastic facility. You can't miss it, yet you can live here for years without knowing exactly what goes on there. The facility is Camp Summit, a hidden jewel in our community that provides an incredible introduction to all the outdoor activities Squamish is famous for.

"We blend traditional camp activities such as archery, canoeing, arts & crafts, swimming, and outdoor living skills with high end adventure such as mountain biking, rock climbing, hiking, and bouldering," states Geoff Park, Camp Director.

"We provide campers the opportunity to try activities for the first time with their group, or master their skills during electives."

Trying a new sport can be intimidating. "Our goal is to progress each camper to the next level from wherever they start when they arrive. Our staff and instructors provide a fun, safe and positive environment to meet new friends, play and learn in the wonderful world of summer camp"

Five-day 'discovery' camps are the perfect sampler pack and space is going fast, especially with the locals discount.

Camps run all July and August with campers coming from all over the world. Plus, Camp Summit is fully accredited by the BC Camping Association so they meet the extensive standards ensuring every child has a safe and rewarding experience.
