Howe Sound Adventures: a new view of Squamish

In a town chock-a-block full with adventure possibilities, it's hard to believe there's something new to be done.

Yet as vast as the options are, here we are in the summer of '07 and Squamish welcomes yet another outlet to get your adventure fix. Mike Bourget and Amy Ewasiuk are excited to bring Howe Sound Adventures to Squamish.

Located on our amazing ocean-front, Howe Sound Adventures has just opened its doors to a brand new way to see the Sound. Capitalizing on a remarkable opportunity, this local company makes it possible to experience our area from the stunning vantage point of a Sea-Doo tour.

Family friendly, and super safe, these guided tours will take you on a never to be forgotten adventure on the Howe Sound. The deluxe two hour guided tour will bring you down to Darrell Bay, where you can see the remains of Woodfiber then skirt Anvil Island while traveling among the plentiful wildlife.

Yes, the curious, friendly seals are known to come up and say hi as you travel along the water. Plus you can check out the sea lions sunbathing on Pam Rocks, and the staggering display of birds on Christie Islet.

And the views... Well, of course they're nothing short of spectacular. On a clear day Garibaldi is impressive as ever, and you can even check out Black Tusk, plus the humbling Tantalus Glaciers. Not to mention an uniquely impressive vantage point to see Shannon Falls and the local ocean shorelines.

Each guest gets their own Sea-Doo, with room for two. Plus you're always joined with a fully trained and certified guide on their own machine to ensure your safety the entire trip.

This family friendly adventure is completely accessible for anyone over eight years old with no experience necessary. In fact, all tours include wetsuits, lifejackets, booties, gloves, fuel and fun.

All you need is a swimsuit and you're literally laughing.

For those familiar with the area, the guides will happily take you out on an hourly basis and let you create your own adventure.

Experience Squamish from a whole new angle. For more information call 604-849-1536 or visit howesoundadventures.com.
